

life can't play from day to day it gets harder to play the devils always here regardless of the day my friends come but they dont stay i just need a friend at the end of the day but i cant complain even though im not sane life goes on at the end of the pain life goes on but not with out foul play so each day i prey prey prey that it will get better at the end of this day what's the purpose

hurt minds no homes no wifi no homes empty minds beneath poverty lines endless pain countless times never ending circles bleeding minds feeling of being unwanted and left behind shades of blood red and purple minds broken is yours what this life and what's its purpose that we endure pain will remain the same my heart will remain the same my pain drive me through this internal pain my broken heart aches and give me shivers through this inferno blaze in the sharp bed of nails is where i lay there's no cure for how i feel on my day to day silence is bliss silence many unspoken words of pain greed another word for gain pain is another word for vain deathly walks life from stalks and people stalk why oh why is there no ways to abort end before the start broken heart dusty heart suicide the forbidden art big end before the start daddy's little soldier left to march if you wish the end will soon come before the start stolen lives

torn between lives torn between lies broken heart taken lives stolen heart filled with lies homeless lives stolen cries open wombs blunt knives pill taken to end lives so lets all scream and cry why why why self-harm the forbidden art so we live to die have you ever wondered why we make numerous of sacrifices have you ever asked why it's easier to set ourselves to overdrive so why sit around a cry when you can drive at 20 and still die yeah every one smiles and everyone cries people ask us why are you still alive and you nod smile and reply aright but i ask myself the same question every night is it high enough would i die from that height the grass is green

the grass is green
people are mean to much pain low self esteem how people a nice to the front but behind their mean just remember in life everyone has a ice queen limitless love and broken laces seams pick yourself up dust your self off nothing in life is it seems life is not life without nightmares followed by dreams pain ruled heart endless pain ruled by fame mixed in with blood filled veins lie good for you but you still complain trust me trust me you will remain stay sane you say you love life but then you claim your better than most but bowl your head in shame if you didnt know we all die the so would you care to elaborate shed some like and care to explain green green grass so they claim its greener on the other side i say its meaner when worlds collide the feeling of hope soon left behind im cry and dying in side so i smile just t hide the feelings that override im screaming but there's no one in sight im crazy im mental im just lucky i got caught in time

Adam and eve people these days are too worried about what they have no longer got money is not everything but have you forgot you could set the world on fire and no one would care and reply with so what but one person takes one apple from one tree and were all forever punished or this one lesson in life that we've that we've all forgot reality nothing's as it seems were all asleep life's but a dream blue of red and reds of green life's but a dream what if i told you sea's were grey n the trees not green would you say i'm crazy or living in a world of dreams life is full of love and happiness or so it seem now who's crazy and or living the dream as i say victims cry but sufferers scream as i said am i in a nightmare or repetitive dream love shy broken heart endless fight i ask for love and you deny passed people look from clouds in the sky hearts in pain endless cry like is adventurous but then you die kisses on the lips the meeting of eyes this is love i wonder why how could you ever love someone thats ready to die please dont quiver dont be shy its then end of the line lets kiss good bye.

Mental health endless suffocation the lost mixed up cut off generation see i can claim that im a different patient i sat here face full emotion but the rope tightens cant lie im freighted its damnation empty and die i try to be patent forcing the tears but i isn't crying im dying drugs were used to escape my chemical warfare its not the problem it the root i scream when there's no one there life isn't fair as it seems its just another suicide scare hope and mind as i hang from my mind of why i had to stay here alone and left behind i cry at the times and days i spent by your side now i lay here at night tears surround my eyes hold back but wanting to cry its been nearly nine months but still its just not the time to let you go the rain could pour a thousand storms of snow and the ice age has already began as im still alone now your gone i have no one show all the things im letting go but im still hear your voice at night thats all i hear even though im dying inside but still here yes im smiling just so people dont judge for my crying dad i miss you i just prey your looking down and smiling pain why did I fail so as i smile this fake grin this empty heart prison of thoughts im in my i eat but im still thin i dream dreams of pain then i wake up and im still here siting in this prison of my own thoughts wishing life had a way to abort with out getting a thought or a feeling they've won but they always win inside im dying but fake smiles hide what's within i cant win cant walk cant sing so i bottle it up till i grow so that the pain soon overflows leading to my explosive thoughts from within i cant win then why must i carry on to live a life of sin you said my place was under your wing then why must i continue you to just get the bad when its obvious you gained the win for gods sake give me the power im begging begging BEGGING !!